SALT—I will not give my prices as they are frequently changing in value, the variety is so great that you cannot fix a value without seeing and comparing.

Sugars and Coffees

Teas, Fish, Syrup, and in fact all classes of Groceries run low and high and prices are governed according to quality. Hence I will not price my goods on paper, but I ask all wanting goods in my line to come and see for themselves. I am going to sell for a small profit, without it there is no pleasure. I cordially ask my old friends to come and see me. I have done business in Richmond longer than other men and have sold more goods than any one. I thank the good people for past favors and ask still a share of the patronage. Respectfully,

John P. Quesenberry,

N. B.—Produce, such as Butter, Eggs, Potatoes, Apples, Bacon, Lard, Chickens, &c., bought at market value will pay for each or in bulk.

Every one has a will and a mind to think for himself, yet many will go about looking and coming until a friend recommends Dr. Ball's Cough Syrup for his Cough.

Our enterprising fellow townsman Charles Sevier has built himself a mammoth barn, on his lot, in the east part of town. He wants plenty of shelter for his Jersey cows.

No medicine is half so good for a great variety of family complaints, as Ayer's Pills. They are easy to take, effective to cure, and very cheap and handy.

Records.—An old gentleman named Hubbard, 78 years old, living in the north part of the county, was married last Sunday in the Catholic Church to a Mrs. Fox. Nobody ever gets too old to marry in Carroll county.

skill and intelligence have accomplished what has been thought practically impossible, viz: the combination of Grape Cream Tartar and Bi-Carb. Soda, without filling into Baking Powders. The result is Deland's Chemical Baking Powder.

The last mine report of Frank Murphy, our Mine Inspector, shows that over $200,000 worth of coal has been mined this year in this county. This is just what much realized from our hidden wealth.

Sept. 24th, 1880
I have been sick for the past six years, suffering from dyspepsia and general weakness. I have used three bottles of Hop Bitters, and they have done wonders for me. I am well and able to work and eat and sleep well. I cannot say too much for Hop Bitters.

33 SIMON ROBBINS.
Cincinnati, Ohio.—Present indications point to a very speedy completion of the grading on the C. B. & K. C. extension from Sumner. Besides the force at work on east side of Grand river, there are five other forces distributed over the line on the west side.

An Age of Suspicion.
Truly, this is an age of suspicion. Nevertheless, Capt. F. M. Howes, of the steamer William Crane, Merchants' & Miners' Transportation Line between Boston and Baltimore, who suffered severely from rheumatism, caused by the exposure incident to his profession, was cured by St. Jacobs' Oil. This is no suspicion.—Boston Globe.

State Tribune.—"Bill Ryan, who is serving a twenty-five year sentence in the penitentiary for participation in the Glendale train robbery says he will not testify in the cases pending against his old leader Frank James. He says if he knew anything about his wicked transactions he would not tell it. We don't believe there is any way to make a bird sing when it won't sing. Frank James is safe so far as Ryan's testimony is concerned.

No Grease for Him.
"When Grease for knees—Grease for knees—Grease for knees," stammered an embarrassed school-boy, forgetting the next line of his recitation. "There is no grease to grease anybody's knees," shouted his teacher. "Go and study your piece." Neither is there occasion to grease your hair. Parkers Hair Balsam is all the dressing you want. Restores the original gloss and color to gray or faded hair. Does not soil the linen; not greasy; good for the scalp; prevents falling out. 45-cs.

The Lathrop Herald pertinently remarks: "We respect a man who refuses to buy a country paper, or settles up for the one he has been taking and stops it—though we may depreciate his judgment a trifle. But we have nothing but contempt for the scoundrel who will receive a paper for one or more years and then, when asked to pay, plead the baby act. A man who will read a paper for a term and then lie about it is mean enough to sell his wife's cadaver to a disector and get drunk on the proceeds."

Plattsmouth Democrat: As evidence that the breeding of Short-Horn cattle is a profitable business, we call the attention of the readers to the success of Jas. T. Phelps. In 1870 he bought a Short-Horn cow, Moss Rose 10th, for $300. Her first calf was a heifer and it was the only heifer calf she brought him until the last one, and then he had from this one cow and her produce he had last Tuesday sold $4,000 worth of cattle at public sale and had previously sold $3,000 worth at private sale, making $7,000 realized from the investment of $300 in thirteen years. Is there any business that will beat this.

Ray is a grand old county. Our farming lands are as good as there are in the state. We raise as fine cattle and hogs as you can find anywhere. We have the best imported horse and jack stock. Our fruit crop is immense, we are convenient to the markets of the world, being directly under the shadow of Kansas City and St. Joseph, leading cities of the new west, and besides these advantages there are millions of dollars worth of "black diamonds" stored away in the bowels of the earth that we can raise and turn into money at pleasure.

Mrs. M. J. Scholl is erecting another dwelling house on her lot on Shaw street in the southern addition to Richmond.

We find them in an exchange: "To clean out a stove pipe place a piece of zinc on the live coals in the stove. The vapor produced by the zinc will carry off the soot by chemical decomposition. Persons who have tried the process claim it will work every time."

Lincoln Bulletin:—On Wednesday morning, November 14th, a little daughter of Mr. Gideon Goetz, who lives in Jackson township, was burned to death. While Mrs. Goetz was out in the yard, the child's clothing caught fire from an open fire-place. She ran out into the yard screaming. Her mother tried in vain to catch her, but could not get hold of her in time. She died the same evening in great pain. Her funeral was preached at Mount Olive Baptist Church on Friday afternoon by Rev. M. Proctor, to a very large audience of deeply sympathizing friends.

Meteorology.
Prof. Tice makes a new departure in his Farmer's Almanac and Weather Forecasts for 1884, adding much of value and interest to all, and especially to the farmer. The large amount of information in regard to the Care of Cattle, their Diseases, Symptoms, Cure, etc., prepared by the most celebrated veterinary surgeons in America, and the rules now given for the first time, which will enable any person to foretell the approach of frost, are among the new features introduced in the forthcoming issue. "Weather Forecasting," and the article showing how the clouds indicate the approach of storms, will prove of general interest. A "funny corner" will be given for those who enjoy a good laugh, while the careful housekeeper will not be forgotten. Send for it, read it, follow its advice, and be happy.

Tice & Fillingim, the publishers, 335 N. Third st., St. Louis, Mo., will mail simple copy and terms to the trade on receipt of twenty cents.

The November number of The Ladies Floral Cabinet, New York, is of unusual interest. John Thorpe contributes an article upon "Art Applied to Bedding," in which he describes the process of making, entirely of plants, the medallion portraits of Washington and Lincoln, shown the past season at Allentown City Park. Peter Henderson's suggestions upon "Window Gardening and the Care of Plants in Rooms" will also be read with interest. C. E. Parrell tells how to cultivate the Acrocinum, one of the valuable of the Everlasting, while among editorial articles, the Selaginella and Cyclamen are ably treated and illustrated. There are also several interesting stories and poems, and a decorative department, with its descriptions of pretty articles suitable for Christmas gifts, made plain by illustrations, will be especially appreciated as the holiday season is so near at hand.

It has been the habit of the publishers of the Floral Cabinet to send out to its subscribers, each year, some premium of a distinctive floral nature, and for the present season they announce for every year's subscriber "two ever-blooming Roses," or "ten packets Flower Seeds," mailed post free. We have arranged to supply our own publication and the Ladies Floral Cabinet at a special price, $2.00 for both, and the premium of Roses or Flower Seeds, as may be selected, are included in this clubbing arrangement.

Any of our readers may have a copy of the Cabinet for examination at half price (six cents), by mentioning this paragraph in the editorial of the Cabinet, 22 Vesey Street, New York.

The Richmond Democrat asks if we "shall know each other in the beautiful forever." We don't know what the editor has been thinking about, but we are not traveling that way. He might give up the idea of placing his accounts in the hands of the High Consulate in the such a future series, as we believe we shall meet and know each other in the beautiful beyond. If not, then we want to live always if we are to be deprived of meeting the big-hearted men and women whom we have mingled with and loved in the past. We will not let any other on the other shore—Lathrop Herald.

The question was not ours originally but the comments were. As Bro. Chonstant don't seem to know our object in writing the paragraph, we will say to him that we had but one object in view and that was to say something that might be of benefit to somebody; something that would cause some individual to stop and think and perhaps make up his mind to change his conduct and habits. "The whole course of men's lives have frequently been changed by one little paragraph like that, standing out boldly as a finger board, warning them of the dangers on the road they and themselves traveling. We had much rather fill our space with something of that kind, than to give it up to a big puff for a barrel of wisky some man has just opened in one of those ante-chambers of ruin, better known as a saloon. And again when we write a paragraph of that kind, we feel sure that not only our own readers will get the benefit of it, but at least half dozen of our exchanges will reprint it, thus extending the circle of whatever influence for good there may be in the words. Some editors dislike to have what they write appropriated without credit. We are not one of them. We have credit writing for glory and if any of our exchanges choose to take what we write without credit, we have no words of condemnation or objection to urge. We have the consolation of knowing that they can get nothing from this paper of an immoral nature; no puffs for wisky shops, nor paragraphs bordering on bar room vulgarity. The Richmond Democrat is as often quoted among its exchanges as any country paper in Missouri, but articles are taken from it always, either for news or moral and not to gratify a morbid curiosity for something bordering on indecency. Like the editor of the Herald we believe there is a hereafter, and that we shall meet many of the big-hearted men and women we knew in this life over there. We also believe there is a hell to punish men for their misdeeds in this life.

But never in all time was there so ennobling and detestable an enslavement of a people as that now projected in this country by the makers and sellers of liquor. Never in all history did such greedy and unscrupulous hands seize the reins of power as now stretch out from every brewery, every saloon, every dive, every brothel, every dead-end where thieves and thugs lie in wait for their prey. Never were there such despicable plots against the liberties of a people as those hatching and the cooking fumes of
